GREENSBORO TELEGRAM.

VOL. VII. NO. 49. GREENSBORO, N. C., TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1900. Price Five Cents

SAYS WE WILL BE ISOLATED.

GERMANY IS A LITTLE NETTLED.

Officers Say That Our Reply Does Not Answer Their Proposition, and That McKinley Won't Trust Conger—Also Say That American Troops Will Have to go Back to Pekin Soon After Leaving There—The United States Reply—Chaffee Ordered to Withdraw.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Berlin, Sept. 25.—Government officers say that the American note does not reply to the German proposal that the ministers at Pekin select those guilty of outrages against foreigners. It is added that President McKinley won't trust Minister Conger as the latter is politically his opponent. Officials think the United States will now be isolated so far as China is concerned. It is beleived that the American troops will be obliged to return to Pekin soon after leaving there.

The appointment of Prince Tuan as the President of the great council is officially confirmed and this is said here to account for the decision of the United States to leave 1,500 men at Pekin.

CHAFFEE ORDERED TO WITHDRAW TROOPS.

Washington, Sept. 25—Instructions were cabled Gen. Chaffee to withdraw troops from Pekin. A legation guard of infantry and four troops of cavalry and one light battery will remain under the command of Chaffee. Other troops will be withdrawn.

CONGER TO BE MEDIATOR.

Washington, Sept. 24.—The position of the United States in China, as made known in the notes made public yesterday, is receiving the earnest consideration of the other powers and their representatives here. There has been no word, however, from any of the governments concerning their view of the American position, and it is expected that some days will elapse before any new move is made. There is reason to believe that the American note was considered at Berlin yesterday by those chief in authority, but this has brought no positive developments thus far.

In accordance with the statements made to Germany to the effect that the United States Government is about to authorize Mr. Conger to enter forthwith into conference with the duly authorized representatives of the Chinese Gavernment with a view to bringing about a preliminary agreement, acting Secretary of State Hill spent some time yesterday framing the direction to Mr. Conger. In view of the peculiarly delicate nature of the task to be confided to Mr. Cogger, this is a work requiring much thought. The language of the note professing to state what Mr. Conger is to do is unusual and seems generally to indicate that he is really about to undertake to bring the Powers and China together; in actuality, he is to serve as a mediator in part, at least. He presumably will arrange with the Chinese representatives, Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching, as to the place where they are willing to meet the representatives of the Powers to discuss a final settlement and try to fix upon certain broad principles that shall govern the conference. This program must be submitted to the Powers to ascertain if they are willing to accept it. If so, then it may be that something in the nature of a joint international peace commission will deal with the Chinese representatives.

It is now understood that General Chaffee's military force will be reduced to about 1,500 men. This contingent being specially known as a legation guard, will not be subject to the orders of any one save the United States Minister resident, as made known through the senior American military commander, either General Chaffee or General Wilson, probably the latter, and not being part of the allied military forces, will not be under the command of General Field Marshal Count von Waldersee. The orders for the reduction are still in process of perfection.

SENATOR PALMER DEAD.

Died at His Residence at Springfield This Morning.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 25—General J. M. Palmer, ex-United States Senator died at his residence in this city this morning.

CAPE NOME STORM.

Raged for Two Days All Along the Shore and Five Hundred People Are Homeless.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Seattle, Sept. 25.—The information comes from Cape Nome of a disastrous storm of two days all along the shore. The wind and water levelled tents and mining machinery. One man is known to have been drowned, and several seamen and captians of small tugs are believed to be lost. Five hundred people are homeless and the property loss is a half million. The heaviest loser is the Alaska Commercial Company. The government reservation is thrown open for the benefit of the homeless.

A SPLENDID LECTURE.

Miss Kearney Delighted a Large Audience Last Night—An Effective Speaker.

The Greensboro public is under obligations to the ladies of the W. T. C. U. for an opportunity to hear two such splendid lectures as were delivered by Miss Kearney the past two evenings. She is splendidly equipped for her work and is a lecturer of much more than average ability. Not only this, but she deals with undisputed facts, paying more attention to conditions as they exist than to empty platitudes and uninteresting statistics.

West Market Street church was well filled last night, many who had heard Miss Kearney the previous night being present. Her lecture was different from the one delivered at Centenary church, though it was fully as interesting.

The speaker told of conditions as she had found them in all parts of the country and plead for the only effective remedy against the liquor traffic—total prohibition. She believes in building up such a strong moral sentiment in favor of temperance as to make it easy to enact and enforce prohibitory laws.

An interesting feature of the service was some special music arranged under the direction of Dr. John H. Wheeler In addition to the music rendered by the choir, a solo by Mrs. Claxton and a quartette by Misses Carraway and Wood and Messrs. Crawford and Bradley were greatly enjoyed.

THE HORSES ARE COMING.

Prospects for the Races at the Fair Grow Brighter.

Whatever may be said of the approaching Fair, and everybody knows it will be a success, there is no doubt but that the horse racing will be all that anyone has ever claimed for it. Horsemen all over the country are interested and will be here with fast steppers.

Mr. A. E. Woodell arrived from Danville today with five horses, and Secretary Walsh has information to the effect that fifteen or twenty will be here from Norfolk. There will also be twelve horses here from Marion, Darlington and Greenville, S. C. In addition to this, a number of North Carolina horses will of course be entered.

All the stalls at the race track have been engaged and it has been found necessary to build several more.

Got Satisfaction.

An agent of the Southern Stock Mutual Fire Insurance Company and the Underwriters of Greensboro was in a neighboring town recently, and was told of how a business man of that place satisfied himself about where he would place his insurance. An agent of a foreign company had told him he had better withdraw his business from the above mentioned companies, and put it in a "strong" foreign concern. On the strength of this the gentleman decided to divide his business, but before doing so, made a trip to Greensboro and investigated the home companies, without their knowledge. Going back home, he withdrew his decision to divide his business, and gave it all to the two home companies.

STRIKERS ARE STILL AHEAD.

WHOLE BUSINESS YET PARALYZED.

Peace Reigns in Shenandoah and Miners Are Leaving Wilkesbarre to Take Jobs in Bituminous Mine—Less Than a Dozen Collieries in All the Vast Anthracite Region Attempted to Work This Morning.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Wilkesbarre, Sept 25.—On an early train this morning, five hundred miners left for bituminous regions, with jobs and good wages promised them. Fully 5,000 men have left for the bituminous regions since the strike began. A dozen agents of the bituminous mines are here making up parties to go to Ohio and Indiana mines.

PEACE IN SHENANDOAH.

Peace reigns in Shenandoah and neighboring towns. Less than a dozen colliers in the vast anthracite field attempted to work this morning.

MARKLE SAID TO HAVE GIVEN IN.

It is reported at Hazelton that Markle has granted all the demands of the miners.

A mining superintendent telegraphs that Markle denies that he has acceded to the demands of the miners.

DIDN'T RESPOND TO WHISTLES.

Samokin, Sept. 25.—The officials of Cameron colliery endeavored to start this morning, but no miner responded at the blowing of the whistles. Fruitless attempts were made to resume by several other colliers between here and Centralia, but the men remain away.

OPERATORS PLAYING A MEAN CARD.

New York, Sept. 25.—A Journal special says the Hazleton operators are today playing another, and what the strikers declare is their last, card. They will flood the mines and abandon them, they say.

DEMAND OF THE MINERS.

The demands of the miners have been briefly summed up as follows:

Wages to be paid semi-monthly in cash.

An advance of 20 per cent. in wages less than $1.50.

An advance of 15 per cent. in wages of $1.50 and less than $1.75.

An advance of 10 per cent. in wages of $1.75.

Abolition of the sliding scale of wages.

Abolition of the company doctor system.

Abolition of the company store system.

A ton of coal to be actually 2,240 pounds, and not as now, over 3,000.

Price of powder to be $1.50 a keg, and not as now, $2.50. The company gets it for 90 cents.

Negro Laborers for Wilson.

Twenty-six negroes passed through this morning on their way from Asheville to Wilson, where they go to work in a tobacco factory. A special car was attached to the Raleigh train for their accommodation.

The man in charge of the party said there was just now a scarcity of labor in Wilson, occasioned by the increased demand of the tobacco industry at that place.

The Bootblack Nuisance.

The bootblacks are again making a nuisance of themselves around the Southern passenger station. They congregate along the sidewalk, when a policeman is not in sight, and solicit customers, often blocking the sidewalk. Only this morning a lady was forced to take the street in passing.

The ordinance in regard to loitering around the station seems to have no terrors for the bootblacks.

Alec. Jarrel Comes Back.

Alec. Jarrell, who escaped from the county roads over a year ago, is said to be in the city. He was sent to the roads for breaking into a store and escaped after serving only one day of his sentence. Since that time he has been dodging about from place to place, and last night returned to the home of his wife in this city.

Cotton Market.

New York, Sept. 25. — Cotton: Sept. 10.°9, Oct. .13, Nov. 9.83, Dec. .70. Jan. .69.

A marriage is scheduled to take place in the Westend on October 12th.

THE FIGHT IN ROCKINGHAM.

Col. Webster Tells of the Warm Senatorial Contest in His County.

Col. John R. Webster, of Reidsville, who spent the forenoon here, stated to The Telegram that the Senatorial question was just now the all-absorbing topic in Rockingham. The majority of the Democrats, he said, would support either Carr or Simmons, and they are lining up for their favorites. The county chairman, it seems, formerly held office under Simmons and is effecting a good organization for that gentleman. On the other hand, Gen. Carr is not without influential friends who are doing good work.

Col. Webster is a staunch friend of Gen. Carr and is warmly supporting him with his paper, the Weekly. He has kept tab on Mr. Simmons ever since he entered politics, as he does all other public men, with the result that a part of that gentleman's past record is being unfolded to the world.

BEAUTIFUL DECORATIONS.

Committee on Exhibits at the Fair Desires Potted Plants.

The members of the committee on exhibits for the Fair are putting forth special efforts to make a most attractive place of Exhibition Hall. The hall is to be beautifully decorated, and they wish to secure for this purpose any potted plants that is to be had in the city. A note to Col. W. H. Osborn, stating what can be furnished, will be appreciated.

The committee will take all responsibility of properly handling and returning the plants in good condition. A competent man will be engaged to care for the plants while they are in possession of the committee.

It is hoped that the ladies of Greensboro who can spare plants will inform Col. Osborn of the fact.

WILL RUN A STOCK FARM.

Mr. Arrasmith Buys Mr. Eckel's Farm and Will Raise Fine Horses.

It is reported that Mr. Eugene Eckel has sold his farm, just east of the city, to Mr. T. W. Arrasmith, who will engage in stock raising. The location is a most excellent one for a stock farm.

Mr. Arrasmith is a well-known horseman, of considerable experience in all branches of the business. He at one time had charge of the stock on Gen. Julian S. Carr's Occoneechee farm, near Hillsboro. A few years ago he went to Kentucky and later to New York. Mr. Arrasmith is one of the few men that have been able to make money in the horse business.

MORE TROUBLE THREATENING.

Twenty Thousand Fierce Triads are Joining the Boxers and Threatening Rebellion.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Hong Kong, Sept. 25—The peaceful aspect of the Kwang Chung district is threatened frequently. Anti-christian riots have occurred and have not been checked. The viceroy's army of 20,000 Triads, fiercely anti-foreign, are being associated with the Boxers and have established a base at Chung Chien. They are threatening Canton, and preparing for rebellion. The Chinese threaten to destroy the French gunboat Avalanche now at Kum Chuk, above Canton.

SMASHED VANDERBILT'S WINDOW.

Rock From a Blast Destroys Bric-a-Brac and Nearly Hits Some of the Old Masters.

By Wire to The Telegram.

New York, Seyt. 25.—Pieces of rock from a blast were thrown through the windows of the drawing room of George W. Vanderbilt, on Fifth avenue, this morning. Costly bric-a-brac was destroyed. Fortunately the stones missed the picture gallery in which hangs pictures of old masters of priceless worth.

Hid Its Face in Shame.

The clock in the waiting room at the Southern Passenger station has been stared out of countenance and has hid its face in shame. It has been keeping irregular time of late and a piece of paper has been placed across its face to prevent the public from being misled as to the time of day.

In a Critical Condition.

The condition of Miss Lizzie Leigh Dick, who has been ill of typhoid fever for several weeks, is critical in the extreme. Her death is expected at any time.

GANG WELLS INVESTIGATED

RESULT OF VISIT TO REIDSVILLE

An Abundance of the Best Water Supplied by a Well Situated Two Miles from Town—While the Capacity is Only 300,000 Gallons Daily, the Engineer Says He Could Have Furnished 1,000,000—Would Such a System Supply Greensboro?

The gentlemen who visited Reidsville yesterday afternoon for the purpose of inspecting the water system of that town were well pleased with what they saw. The system is a beautiful one and furnishes an abundance of water, which is clear as crystal and absolutely pure. Several of the gentlemen brought back samples of the water in bottles.

As has before been explained, Reidsville's water is supplied by a well. This is situated about two miles out of town, in a meadow and near a small creek about the size of North Buffalo. The well is about 20 feet in diameter and 27 feet deep, with a cement wall. From the bottom of the well 3-inch pipes ("feeders") run out in every direction for a distance of about 100 feet. These are perforated, the perforations being covered with a wire gauze.

From the well the water is pumped up town to a stand-pipe 150 feet high and holding 75,000 gallons. (Greensboro's stand-pipe holds 96,000 gallons.) The capacity of the plant is 300,000 gallons of water daily, the consumption being about 50,000 gallons. When the well was bored the town asked for a capacity of 200,000 gallons daily. Mr. H. E. Knox, who made the surveys and bored the well, gave the people a capacity of 300,000 and says he could have made it a million had it been desired.

The greatest advantage to be derived from wells of this kind is in the absolute purity of the water. In addition to this, a filterer is not required and the supply is unfailing, which is not always the case when a water supply comes from the surface.

This system might not furnish an adequate water supply for Greensboro but it could be used to augment any other system. The amount of the supply could only be determined by investigation. Mr. Knox believes, however, that a good supply could be obtained, especially south of the city, where the earth is more favorable. He says that in the vicinity of Brown Summit wells could be bored which would furnish an unfailing supply of from 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 gallons daily. This would be a sufficiency for the needs of Greensboro for many years to come.

Mr. Knox was one of the engineers who had charge of boring the wells for Brooklyn, N. Y., and says this city's supply is 95,000,000 a day. Trenton and other towns in New Jersey bave wells furnishing them abundant supplies.

The Board of Aldermen will meet Friday night, when the water question will come up for consideration. The most interesting feature of the meeting will be the report of Alderman Boyd, who was appointed to investigate the books of the Greensboro Water Supply Company. It is rumored that some important disclosures will be made.

FIVE ENTERTAINMENTS.

A Fine Course Arranged by the Ladies of West Market Street Church.

Mr. Frank C. Boyles, manager of the course of entertainments to be given by the ladies of West Market Street church, has arranged the dates for five very fine entertainments, three of which are musical.

The first entertainment—Albert Armstrong's picture play—will be given in November. In December the Temple Male Quartette and the Metropolitan Star Quintette will appear. During the month of April there will be a performance by the Smith Sisters' Sextette and a lecture by Dr. A. A. Willits, the apostle of sunshine.

The Smith Sisters have been here before and delighted the people who heard them.

The performances will be given in the Academy of Music, and tickets for the entire course will be sold for $1, $1.25 and 1.50, the latter being the price of the reserved seats. The tickets will be put on sale Thursday.

ATTACKED BY HIS WIFE'S PET.

MAN TORN BY A SAVAGE BULLDOG.

Saved Only by a Little Dog Which Turned the Big One Away—A Dull Campaign. Wake Forest's New Gymnasium—Senator Pritchard Campaigning in Ohio and West Virginia—Young Lawyers After License.

Special Correspondence of The Telegram.

Raleigh, Sept. 25.—The Supreme Court devoted yesterday to the examinasion of applicants for license as attorneys. Of them there were forty-seven, two of whom were colored. Out of this number twenty-five were of the University Law School, and thirteen from that of Wake Forest. The examination was held in the Senate chamber. It will be several days before it is known who passed.

The Supreme Court will today begin the hearing of appeals from the First district. Two attorneys from that district, Charles F. Warren and W. B. Rodman, of Washington, are here as counsel.

The Seaboard Air Line is building a large freight depot at Henderson, to replace the one burned last summer. It is also building a passenger station there.

The phosphate mill here, which is, by the way, one of the best paying industries in the State, is being enlarged.

A criminal term of the Superior Court began here yesterday. There are no capital cases on the docket. Solicitor E. W. Pou is again sick and his brother, James H. Pou, is acting as solicitor.

It is said that the cotton crop in this section is better than has been reported. Cotton can stand a great deal of hot weather. A large July crop was made, to use an expression of the cotton growers.

Senator Pritchard has gone to Ohio and West Virginia to make campaign speeches and will be in those States until October 8th.

Three convicts from Wayne have arrived at the penitentiary, all to serve short terms. Very few convicts arrive these days. The counties take nearly all.

Interest in the State Fair was never so great as it is this year. The attractions are to be more varied. Despite the drought a very fine exhibit of farm products is assured.

Fifteen varieties of Western North Carolina apples were shipped to Paris by Secretary Bruner. Next week he will have on exhibition at the museum twenty-five varieties. The apple show he made last spring attracted much attention, but this one will be finer.

The trustees of Wake Forest College are building a gymnasium. It will be two stories in height. The second story is nearly completed. It is the intention to get it under roof before cold weather.

Yesterday a man named Johnson, who lives here, was atttacked and very badly bitten by a savage and unfriendly bulldog he owned. The dog was his wife's pet. Johnson was not liked by the dog. A policeman last week urged Johnson to kill the brute. Yesterday Johnson attempted to pat the dog when it sprang at him and lacerated his arms and legs by repeated bites. A little dog ran out of the barn and seized the bulldog. The latter turned Johnson loose. The latter ran into the house and closed the door. Neighbors turned out and began a fusillade. It required no less than 9 shots to kill the dog, a musket, shot guns and pistols being used.

It is the current comment of both Democrats and Republicans that they have never seen a duller National campaign in this State than the one now in progress. There is no "ginger" in it. The fact seems to be that the State campaign was such a live one as to make the national one flat in comparison.

The negroes are now talking about an exodus to Oklahoma.

Three new lodges of Odd Fellows have been organized—at Franklinton, Hominy and Leaksville.

Over sixty dwellings are in course of construction in Raleigh and its suburbs.

The Raleigh Hosiery Company now employs 100 persons.

Wake now has 58 county convicts. It has 62 inmates of its county home.

Mr. W. A. Hines, of Manchester, Iowa, writing of his almost miraculous escape from death says: "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in consumption. I had frequent hemorrhages and coughed night and day All my doctors said I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which completely cured me. I would not be without it even it cost $5 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and all say it never fails to cure throat, chest and lung troubles." Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been to low and are just now getting reasonable. Your children will be glad to build at double the price it now costs you. It is a trite, but true saying, if you want to build, "Now is the time."

FATHER DUCEY DEFENDS STRIKERS

After Weeks Spent in the Coal Fields He Returns to New York and Announces That the Men Have Grievances and That He Will Stand by Them.

New York Dispatch, 23d.

The Rev. Thomas J. Ducey, after weeks spent in the Pennsylvania coal regions, told the congregation of St. Leo's here today of his experiences. The talk was given after the regular sermon. Father Ducey began by saying:

"I returned to New York with a positive determination to stand by the people. I think that in 99 out of 100 cases the people are right, and my experience of the past week confirms that opinion. Many of the things we read about the miners I know to be false from my own observation. I did not sit in a hotel and believe what was told to me. I investigated for myself. Let me begin by saying that the stories circulated about the miners being drunkards and dissipated are absolute lies.

"The men have just grievances, and they have as much right to the arbitration they demand as have the railroad kings. The delay asked for by the operators appears to be a scheme to take an unfair advantage of the miners."

After paying a high tribute to the character of President Mitchell, of the miners organization, Father Ducey said:

"I am informed that about 55 per cent. of the miners in the Hazleton district are English-speaking and the other 45 per cent. are foreigners. The English-speaking ones stay there and face the music, while the foreigners go to their homes in the winter, leaving the others to bear the brunt of the battle for the right. When labor began to organize, the kings of control imported foreign labor because it was cheaper than American labor. Now the kings are getting it in the eye."

Father Ducey said that he had visited the houses of wealthy persons in the coal regions, and that large employers of labor had admitted to him that the men had grievances, and that they expected that a settlement would soon be reached. He characterized some of the sheriff's deputies as "thugs," and condemned the calling out of the militia, saying it was unnecessary. Toward the latter part of his talk he said:

"The story, widely published, that the men refused to accept the arbitration of the archbishop of Philadelphia is false. The men were and are ready for arbitration. The operators said they would be willing to talk the matter over with the archbishop if he came to them as a man and not as the archbishop."

ALL KILLED SAYS HANNA

That All the Combinations That Were Amenable to the Law and That Had the Power to Oppress the People Have Been Suppressed.

New York, Sept. 24.—Senator Hanna reached this city this morning, coming from Cleveland. Mr. Hanna said that he would remain in the city for a week, possibly longer. Of the situation from his standpoint, Senator Hanna said: "I find that the much talked of apathy of the Republicans is being dissolved and that the dominant interest of the voter at last is being aroused to the necessity of working. The opening of the campaign throughout the entire country has had much to do with this enlivening interest."

Senator Hanna denied the published interview to the effect that he had said Mr. Croker would be given a cabinet position in the event of Bryan's election. He also denied that the national committee, either here or in Chicago, had given any estimate concerning the electoral vote, and said that no estimate would be given. He refused to discuss the coal strike.

Senator Hanna was asked concerning his recent statement that there were no trusts. He answered: "I repeat that all the organizations, or combinations of capital that were amenable to the law and that had the power to oppress the people, have been suppressed, and have been dealt with according to the law. They do not now exist, and if any did exist they would be dealt with as the law in such matters demands."

Concerning the challenge issued by Chairman Edmiston, of the national Populist committee, to discuss points at issue, Mr. Hanna said that if Chairman Edmiston wished to take issue with him on any of these matters he would be accommodated. He added that in case his speeches were needed here, he would be heard, but only at the noon day meetings of the various Republican clubs.

LIFE WAS ALL COURTSHIP.

The Union of Gladstone and His Wife Was a Love Match That Lasted All Their Days.

Probably the marriage between William Ewart Gladstone and Catherine Glynne was what is happily known as a "love match." She was a famous beauty, and he was amply fitted to appreciate her loveliness, which from year to year he learned was as much of character as of appearance. That she was content to play the part of true helpmate all who have ever seen the couple together have borne witness. Intellectually, she was perhaps fitted to make a name for herself had she so chosen; if he had not been so exceedingly great he might have been known only as her husband. But she was satisfied to be his prop—remaining in the background when necessary, or coming to the fore if he had need of her there. In the busy, hard-working days of his life she was his constant attendant, and it has been said that his moral strenuousness was oftentimes due to her influence, says the Boston Transcript.

Then, as illness and old age made it necessary for him to lessen his public duties, she continued to be the true helpmate by watching over his physical comforts in the tenderest way. It was said at the time of his death that her unceasing care had undoubtedly prolonged his life. It must have been gratifying to her to hear this, for she had clearly made this her mission. When his life went out she felt in a sense that her life work was done also, and she looked for the summons to leave this world with no feelings of dread.

HOW THE PRESIDENT WORKS.

Much of the Official Business Is Transacted at the White House Late at Night.

A warm June evening in Washington is not just the time for work—but it is a busy time at the white house. Upstairs nearly all the clerks and stenographers have gone, and the doorkeeper who has charge of the door of the president's office at night sits reading. The stillness and quietude grows deeper and more pronounced each hour; the croaking frogs and chirping crickets in the Mall retard the tempo of the nocturnal chorus. In the cabinet room President McKinley and Secretary Cortelyou concentrate their attention for hours upon the great mass of accumulated papers. A ring for a glass of water is the only call that has summoned the messenger during four hours of night work. Every detail is carefully systematized so that the least possible delay is avoided in the dispatch of public business.

In these quiet, still hours of night the important work of the chief executive is done, and it is very long past midnight when he passes out through the double doors to the residential portion of the white house to obtain rest preparatory to the influx of visitors that begins as early as 9:30 or even nine o'clock.—National Magazine.

THEY ALL KNEW HIM.

He Didn't Know His Fellow Statesmen Very Well But Thought They Knew Him.

Representative Gibson, of Tennessee, a recent acquisition to the house, throws his head back while he is making a speech, says a writer in Success, and talks directly at the ceiling. He is not very well acquainted with the other members, and this circumstance caused him some embarrassment lately in his home district. He was a candidate for renomination, attending many primaries and meetings. "At one of the latter he met a prominent Tennesseean who knows everybody in Washington. The following dialogue ensued:

"Do you know your fellow member, Mr. Smith, of Kansas? He is quite prominent, I understand."

"No-o, I can't say that I do."

"Well, you must know Mr. Brown, of Massachusetts, the celebrated republican orator?"

"No, I really don't remember him."

"Strange! But you surely have met the celebrated Mr. Jones, of Wyoming?"

"Well, I've seen him in the house, of course, but—the fact is, they all know me!"

There Are Exceptions.

"I thought she was such an advanced woman that she always insisted she would not give up her name when she married, but would hyphenate it with her husband's."

"She did say so."

"But she hasn't done it."

"No. You see, things happen very queerly in this world."

"How is that?"

"Her name, you will recall, was Black, and her husband's name was Hart. She didn't like the combination."—Chicago Post.

Eloquence of Character.

The abiding and helpful attraction of a man is in proportion to the weight and perfection of his character. Surface qualities may please for a time, but men trust nothing except character. Eloquence of speech is good, but eloquence of character is better.—Chicago Advance.

A TALE OF TRIUMPH.

How Six Children Died — A Pretty Story That Comes from Darjeeling, India.

In September, 1899, while Rev. Mr. Lee and his wife, of the Methodist school at Darjeeling, India, were absent on business for their mission in the hills, a storm and landslide swept away their home and buried their six children. The eldest son, Wilbur, a boy of 13, survived long enough to breathe the story. There is a sacred pathos in his sketch of his heroic sister, and of the brave way in which all the little ones met death.

Vida Maud Lee, a girl of 17, had charge of the young flock, and when, in the dead of night, the storm increased, and rocks and earth, loosened by a two days' deluge of rain, began to roll down the mountain, she tried to lead her brothers and sisters to a place of safety.

The road and every path of escape were blocked with broken trees and fallen soil and stones. In the rain, the dense darkness and the deafening wind, she knew that the children must scatter, and some of them be lost.

"We will go back to the house," she said. "Then, if God wishes to save us, He will save us together; and if not, He will take us together."

Returning, blinded and drenched, they lighted a lamp, kindled a fire and prayed. There were no terrified shrieks for deliverance—only "Thy will be done." The sublime faith of the eldest sister had lifted even the youngest soul. In the midst of the awful uproar around them the peace of a better world had already begun.

A sudden slide of rock crashed against the house, and the corner of the room fell in. Vida rose and stood calmly with her helpless company.

"Children!" she said, "the house is going to fall, and we shall all soon be in Heaven."

"If you could only have seen Vida's face!" continued the little narrator in his last words to his mother. "She looked so beautiful when she talked to us! And we weren't a bit afraid. We just felt as if we were all in the train, coming to see you and papa."

In another room the brave girl once more gathered her patient brood, and there, in a loving group, they knelt and awaited the inevitable end. The bitterness of death was past. They did not know that they were "more than conquerors." A moment later the great avalanche rolled over them, and five pure young spirits were freed from tribulation forever.

The next day, men exploring the scene of ruin found little Wilbur, so badly injured that he could not live, and tenderly cared for him. He lingered a few days, till the afflicted parents could reach him.

The foregoing facts, communicated by his mother to the Western Christian Advocate, were related by him, little by little, on his death-bed. Alone of the six dear children, "he seems to have been sent back," she said, "to tell us of their triumph."

Patience.

We need patience amid the adverse experience of life. That makes us hopeful when the clouds are murky, when the wheels of life drag.—Rev. J. R. Shannon.

"None but the brave deserve the fare," replied the conductor as he boldly pocketed two nickles.

When the Hair Falls Out accompanied by mucous patches in the mouth, eruptions on the skin, sore throat, copper colored splotches, swollen glands, aching muscles and bones, the disease is making rapid headway, and far worse symptoms will follow unless the blood is promptly and effectually cleansed of this violent destructive poison.

S. S. S. is the only safe and infallible cure for this disease, the only antidote for this specific poison. It cures the worst cases thoroughly and permanently.

My Condition Could Have Been No Worse. In the fall of 1897 I contracted Blood Poison. I tried three doctors, but their treatment did me no good; I was getting worse all the time; my hair came out, ulcers appeared in my throat and mouth, my body was almost covered with copper colored splotches and offensive sores. I suffered severely from rheumatic pains in my shoulders and arms. My condition could have been no worse; only those afflicted as I was can understand my sufferings. I had about lost all hope of ever being well again when I decided to try S. S. S., but must confess I had little faith left in any medicine. After taking the third bottle I noticed a change in my condition. This was truly encouraging, and I determined to give S. S. S. a thorough trial. From that time on the improvement was rapid; S. S. S. seemed to have the disease completely under control; the sores and ulcers healed and I was soon free from all signs of the disorder; I have been strong and healthy ever since.

TUESDAY SEPT. 25, 1900.

A LAND OF MEMORIES.

It is well for the Southern people in the present rush of a new, prosperous and happy life, to pause often and take stock of the past. This is both a pleasure and a duty, and a duty even in times when public tension is strung to its greatest height by the excitements and expectations of a great campaign. We talk much of the dangers of the future and the pitfalls of the present, but it is a fact that those dangers are minimized so long as a people keep a firm hold on their past. Some one has said that the greatest of all the weaknesses of the colored man is that he has no glorious past, no ennobling memories to invoke, no national foundation to build upon. What a striking contrast to this has been the history of that great race, the Jews? What has preserved them as a separate nation amid centuries of the worst persecutions ever heaped upon a people, what has spurred them on to some of the greatest achievements of men and caused them to often look from the very instruments of torture with a calm smile of superiority upon their persecutors—what except their pride of race, their glory in the past?

This rather long string of reflection is introductory merely. From the August number of "The Lost Cause" we clip this:

With the going of years comes the truth of history. One-third of a century has gone and the real story of the sufferings and sacrifices of the people of the Confederacy in defense of its national life has not yet been fully told.

And this of North Carolina:

All of the Confederate States had their full share in the maintenance of the Confederacy; all the Confederate soldiers on every field added renown and glory to the name of the Confederate soldier, but as the records are examined and the verdict made up, North Carolina takes a most, if not the most, prominent position in the great war for the life of the Confederacy.

That one State—and that not the largest of the Confederate States—should have lost one-fourth of all the Confederates killed in battle, more than one-fourth of those who died of wounds and one-third of those who died of disease, is a record that should thrill the heart of every North Carolinian with pride and with grateful memories for those of her sons who thus magnified her valor and traced in these characters of blood such a wonderful story of courage and sacrifice.

Indeed, of all the Confederate States North Carolina has most of which to be proud. Conscious that till the very last, even after the war had begun, she did all in her power to prevent it, but being forced into it shouldered more than her burden, North Carolinians may revert with patriotic satisfaction to that record. We cannot lay all these things too heavily upon the minds of our children, cannot teach them too much of the past, for there is no skeleton there, nothing to cause regret, naught except that which will mantle the cheek with pride with every mention. We have been a land of ruins, now we are one of happiest rejuvenation, made more happy by the resplendent past, fragrant with glowing memories—let them not be forgot.

"Countryman's" article in The Telegram last week favoring Mr. Simmons is proving a very popular document in that gentleman's behalf, judging from the way the papers are copying it.

THE STRIKER'S HANDICAP.

The butchers' association, composed of all meat dealers in Hazleton and vicinity, has given notice that beginning tomorrow only a cash business will be done because of the strike.—Press dispatch of Sunday.

In the morning churches of all denominations were crowded and the sermons were invariably on the subject of the mine troubles. In the Church of the Annunciation, Rev. H. F. O'Reilly, the rector, told his congregation that the mine workers could not win. He advised them to refrain from acts of violence and to return to work. He pointed out that the mines were their only means of support, while the proceeds of the Reading Company from the mines were only a small portion of its receipts. The company would not starve, he said, but the mine workers would.—Sunday dispatch from Shenandoah.

There you have the doctrine of the utter futility of strikes. A strike is a test of strength in which the relations of the opposing parties are those of an army with full stock of provisions and all the world to draw from, beseiging a garrison with a week's supply of provisions. There is no need of fighting. The whole problem is very simple, merely one of waiting. The garrison will starve, the army will not.

But in the premises this truth is pitiable. It is abject surrender without hope, no matter which is right or wrong. All aside from that question, even before it can be discussed, the gnawings of hunger make men desperate and they surrender and grovel, or fight frantically with reason dethroned, and with the recklessness of desperation. In either case the strike ends always in the same way, because the strikers will starve and the company has plenty. It is worthy of note that fighting becomes more frequent and more desperate. What does this presage?

Shall the law not say that differences SHALL be arbitrated, that at least a chance may be had by the garrison to show what foundations it rests its claims upon?

Charlotte's "Black Sam Jones" advises his colored brothers to trust to God and do right. Is this another attempt to direct the affections of a grateful people from their heretofore supposed benefactor—the Republican party?

The people are exceedingly hospitable to senatorial aspirants. If there are any others looking with longing upon the race they should speak out.

It is doubtless a degree of satisfaction to the Honorable Theodore Roosevelt that the country sat down on Hanna.

Which party is putting up the biggest game of bluff in the way of claims will be known after the vote is counted.

In refusing to discuss the mine strike Mr. Hanna is displaying the wisdom of the serpent.

Would Mr. Hanna object to pointing out a combination that has been suppressed?

Mr. Hanna had not said anything foolish in a week until yesterday.

Preached to Another Crowded House.

Rev. Mr. Martin preached to another large congregation at West Washington Street Baptist church last night. The auditorium was filled to its utmost capacity and the minister preached another strong sermon.

Interest in the revival continues unabated and much good is being accomplished.

GLEANINGS.

Mr. Bryan has promised office to no one. He had a conference with leaders in Chicago yesterday and gave out the following statement in refutation to a report that he had already promised cabinet positions: "I have not given to anyone, either verbally or in writing, a promise of a cabinet position, and I shall not during the campaign make any such promises. I have not authorized and will not authorize anyone, verbally or in writing, to promise any cabinet position or any other position to anyone. If I am elected I shall be absolutely free to discharge all the duties of the office according to my platform as far as the platform goes, and according to my own judgment in all matters not covered by the platform."

In his card ex-Gov. Jarvis says: "I sometimes hear it said that I have already had the party's support and the people's honors to a remarkable degree, and that I ought to retire to private life. I acknowledge with feelings of the profoundest gratitude that I have been greatly honored, but I affirm that I have tried to be faithful to the public interests in every trust that has been confided to me. While the fact that I have held these positions are being urged as a reason why I have had all I deserve, may it not be said in my behalf that the training and experience I gained in them have only the better qualified me to discharge the grave duties which devolve upon a Senator?"

"This brilliant poem," says the Charlotte News, "tells of the life and fortune of one Mr. Moore. He should not be confounded, however, with Sir Thomas Moore. His given name is Owen. The following is the verse:

"Owen Moore left town one day,
Owen More than he could pay,
Owen Moore came back again,
Owen Moore."

Charlotte is to have a $300,000 brewery. Rev. Dr. Chreitzberg, pastor of Tryon Street Methodist church, preached against it Sunday. His sermon is reported by the Observer, and we make this extract:

"So tonight we have a special subject for discussion—the $300,000 brewery. How big that $300,000 sounds and looks! I fear the noise of the chink of the gold will drown the voices of mothers and fathers who earnestly protest against the brewery, and that it will be established in spite of all that can be done against it.

"The subject is practical. Its discussion is timely. Had I waited until the material was on the ground the cry might be raised that I was interferring with the business interests of a stranger who proposed to lay down $100,000 for this enterprise."

The New York Herald prints a forecast in its Sunday issue which it says is the latest estimate of the Republican managers. It is:

REPUBLICAN.

On these extravagant figures the Charlotte Observer properly makes this comment: "Several things might be said of this table by a careful reader of newspapers of every shade of politics, and of no politics at all, and who, in addition to reading newspapers, keeps his eyes open for everything that is to be heard. One of these is that all the States listed as Democratic will undoubtedly vote so. Another is that from present indications New York belongs more properly in the doubtful than in the surely Republican column; Platt claims it by 100,000 majority; Croker by 125,000 and Hanna says it is "dangerous." Illinois and West Virginia are fairly doubtful, though the chances favor the Republicans in both. Missouri is not a doubtful but a Democratic State, and one of the New York Herald's most careful and trusted men, who last week made a tour and observation of Maryland, says that the Democrats have the better of it in that State. If we allow this calculation correct it would give McKinley 185 votes certain, Bryan 137 votes certain, and raise the number of doubtful votes from 84 to 125.

It's advisable for the gourmet to consider the outlay before giving attention to the lay out.

ABBEY'S MEDICAL TALKS

Sleeplessness.

At least eight hours sound, refreshing sleep is necessary in every twenty-four. Do you get it, or is your slumber disturbed by restlessness? Do you lie awake counting the hours until early morning, then to fall asleep and be awakened just as you think your eyes have closed? The body and brain require rest. If the body does not get the repose it needs, the system is weakened, and nervous depression with melancholia follow.

ABBEY'S EFFERVESCENT SALT induces sound, refreshing sleep. It goes right to the cause of the trouble. It removes the pressure of blood from the brain, and sleep is secured. Abbey's is not an opiate or drug, nor does it stupify. It acts just the other way. Upon awakening you feel refreshed and strong, with clear brain and good appetite and best of all, there is no reaction of any kind.

One-third of your life is spent in bed, gathering strength for the other two-thirds.

Sold by most druggists, or sent by mail.

25c., 50c. and $1 per bottle.

BULLETS OF JEALOUS ASSASSIN.

Miss Moore and Mr. Hobbs Called from the House and Shot by an Enraged Desperado—The Latter Escapes.

"A most awfully brutal and cowardly shooting affair occurred here Saturday night," says a special to the Raleigh Post from Williamston, N. C.," when at about half-past nine o'clock some one shot both Miss Jennie Moore, daughter of the late Hon. James Edwin Moore, and Mr. Roland Hobbs, her guest.

"The young couple were seated in the parlor on the sofa when they heard a noise, through the window, of something in the shrubbery outside and went out to investigate the cause of it, thinking it probably a cow in the yard. When reaching about twenty feet from the front steps the noise in the bushes became intensely louder, and Miss Moore exclaimed that it was a cow, and a voice replied, "No, it is me," followed by four pistol shots, the first striking Hobbs in the right hip and the second found its mark under the right shoulder of Miss Moore, going through the body, piercing the lung and lodging in the right breast.

"Returning from the house, where he ran for his hat, Hobbs met Miss Moore coming in, saying that she was shot, and asking him to go for help, which he started to do, but saw a man standing under a lamp at the corner of the yard fence, arranging a pistol, who, when he saw Hobbs, advanced towards him and chased him up the dark lane in front of the house towards Hobbs' father's house, snapping the pistol at him, which would not fire. The pursuer chased him to Church street, when, seeing some negroes he turned off and went down this street.

"Hobbs states that he recognized the voice as that of Miss Moore's lover, Joseph Bennett, and knew it was Bennett whom he saw chasing him. Bennett immediately disappeared and has been seen only once since, when he came to his home yesterday evening, heavily armed, and soon escaped again.

"The sheriff has been unable to get Bennett, but thinks he is hid in the swamps on the river near town. He is making an earnest effort to capture the assassin, but the latter is evidently receiving help from citizens here, and it will be difficult to get him. Hobbs' wound is slight, but Miss Moore's may prove serious, though she is still living. The shooting is supposed to have been the result of jealousy."

BENEFITS OF GOLF.

An Invigorating Outdoor Sport That Tends to Stimulate the Nervous System.

One of the prominent women golf players of the city says that the game has proved very beneficial in producing steadiness of nerve among women. The nature of the game and the exhilarating outdoor atmosphere invigorate and stimulate the nerves and fit women for greater effort and better self-control, says the New York World.

One of the most exasperating features, however, in connection with the game, from a feminine point of view is the injunction of silence. Yet it is this very point that trains in self-control, for the player soon learns that silence is golden when her attention is engaged with the ball, and that if she is to score well she must think and act rather than chatter.

The golf school is probably the best school in which the boycotting of coquetry is taught. Furthermore, while the fever of golf is relentless when it takes hold of a woman, and under its fascinating influence she forgets her worst domestic tragedies, her best friends and has no time for Browning readings or musicales, the consequences in this direction are offset by beneficial effect upon temperament, for it serves to solidify her ambition, straighten her judgment, calm her impulses and control her temper.

GLORIOUS NEWS

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Washita, I. T. He writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters has cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help: but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows what thousands have proved,—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. Sold by C. E. Holton, druggist. Guaranteed.

"DESPERATELY WICKED."

"The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked."

We talk much about "victory over self;"
Is self, then, sin?
Ah, me! there lurks not greater foe without
Than dwells within.

We gird us for life's conflict, and go forth
Seeking our foe;
Nor dream that he has met and vanquished us
Long, long ago.

But we are proud—so slow to turn the truth
The Master taught—
That deadlier enemy to self than self
Mortal hath not.

Life's issues, or of good or evil trend,
Lie all within;
He who would lift up holy hands, must guard
His heart from sin.

O, Thou Eternal One! Whose searching eye
Sees everywhere—
Burdened with conscious guilt, to thee we come
In mute despair.

Cover our mortal weakness with thy strength
And make us bold
To rid of every evil tendency
The heart's stronghold.

Thus, with life's fountain-head made clean and pure,
Life shall be pure;
Nor can deceit or wickedness long vex
Heart so secure.

—Sarah L. Tenney, in Christian Work.

A LIVING GOD.

Cannot Be Fettered by His Own Perfections—Divine Sympathy and Tenderness.

We have little patience with those philosophical definitions of God which cut the Father off from all true fatherly relations. Logical as St. Paul was there were times when he ran up against a stone wall through which he could get no gleam of light and over which his syllogisms would not lift him. But he promptly rejected the conclusions toward which his processes of reasoning seemed bound to lead him, with a shuddering "God forbid." But the limitations to which men subject the Divine operations to-day are those "demanded by science." We are told that the reign of law has banished or rendered incredible the direct interposition of Deity. To this all our spiritual intuitions, our psychical analogies and our Scripture statements appear themselves. We do not believe in a God fettered by His own perfections. It is said that the queen of England is forbidden by court etiquette to hold herself to a glass of water. But that is not so serious as to be shut off from giving somebody else a glass of water. Better to be a peasant living under a thatch of mouldy straw than to be a monarch raised so high upon an ivory throne as to be out of touch with human suffering and need. That conception of divinity which shuts it up to the contemplation of its own absolute impassibilities will hardly satisfy a man who knows that to live such a life himself would wither his spirit and shrivel up his heart like a sterile seed rattling within its own blasted shell. The God we need, and the God we find in our sorrows, is a God of infinite pity and limitless compassion and boundless love; a God who is swift to reach us when we faint, and quick to relieve us when we cry, and mighty to save when we are ready to perish. Anyone who has watched the firemen mount the blistering ladder in a moment of deadly peril, and seen them rescue at cost to themselves the pale faces and trembling limbs of women and little children cut off otherwise from escape, will not take kindly to any philosophical conclusions which put God farther away from their sorrows than their fellow men are. We want to-day, just what David wanted, "a living God." We want One instinct with life and sympathy and tenderness and love. And that is the God revealed to us in the Holy Scriptures.—Chicago Interior.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower. In liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Fulsom & Fordham.

WINE OF CARDUI

How a Woman Suffers.

HOWELL, IND., Nov. 26.

I will always praise Wine of Cardui. It has done me more good than all the medicines I have ever taken in my life. Please send a book about female diseases to the ladies whose names I enclose.

Mrs. MINNIE STODGHILL.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

It isn't necessary for a woman to give particulars. When she says she has "female troubles", other women know what that means. It means days and nights of endless suffering. It means headaches which no tongue can describe. It means that terrible bearing and dragging down in the lower abdomen. It means agonizing backache, and shoulder ache, and arm ache, and aches in the lower limbs. It means nerves on edge—the blues— despondency and loss of hope. It means debilitating drains that the doctors call leucorrhœa. It means martyrdom—sometimes even death seems preferable. And still Wine of Cardui will utterly put those diseases and pains to rout. It has cured thousands of cases when nothing else on earth would. To the budding woman, to the bride, to the wife, to the expectant mother, to those going through the Change of Life, this Vegetable Wine is a blessing.

AUNT MARTHA'S MISTAKE.

BY FRANK B. WELCH.

IN all things Aunt Martha was very exact and particular but in the affairs of her widowed brother's household, of which she was the presiding spirit, she was particularly precise, and especially in the supervision of the culinary department. The kind-hearted yet severe old soul kept after Matilda, the kitchen girl, with a relentless persistency and a hawk-eyed vigilance which often made the poor girl sigh for relief from her surveillance, for anything that was done amiss had to be carefully rehearsed under the direct supervision of her inspector-general. As a result the culinary skill of Aunt Martha came to be known and bragged of throughout her wide circle of friends and acquaintances; and when anybody wanted to speak in praise of anybody else's pies or puddings the invariable verdict was: "Most as good as Aunt Martha's."

One evening a small but select company of Aunt Martha's friends was invited to take dinner with her, in celebration of her brother's birthday anniversary, and she had given every detail of the cooking thereof her personal attention. The soup, meat, etc., had all received her approval before being placed before her guests, but when it came to the dessert, that she insisted upon preparing with her own hands. She made one of her famous cabinet puddings, as a treat for the occasion, and there was general rejoicing among her guests over the prospect of inserting their teeth in the much-vaunted dainty.

The pudding had been passed ere it dawned upon Aunt Martha that she had not made any sauce for it. Such an oversight would have been almost inexcusable on the part of anyone else, and the dear old soul was honest enough to declare that the error was even worse for its commission by herself. She was compelled to confess that in her haste she had overlooked that important item, but springing to her feet she exclaimed: "Wait a moment! I'll make sauce in a jiffy," and darting into the pantry she skirmished around for hardly more than a moment and reappeared with a look of triumph in her eyes and a bowl of translucent, palatable-looking sauce in her hands.

"There!" she said, as she proceeded to help each dish generously. "I guess we will have sauce if Aunt Martha is a little forgetful. I don't see, for the life of me, how I came to forget it; but law! I'm getting old and careless."

This candid acknowledgment brought a sly smile to the faces around the table, and to thoroughly convince their good hostess of their willingness to forgive her they all started in on the pudding with a vim that bespoke a previous knowledge of its qualities.

The first taste had a queer effect on the whole company. Some dropped their spoons and raised their napkins, some paused with perplexed faces, and others made a brave effort to go on with the pudding. Then Aunt Martha herself tasted, then she smelled, then glancing wildly about, she cried: "Land sakes! What is it? Do you find anything wrong with the pudding?"

There was no concealing the fact that they did, but no one had the courage to make reply. Their looks were enough, however, and without further inquiry Aunt Martha made a bolt for the pantry, from whence a moment later came the agonizing exclamation: "Forever more! if I haven't gone and put machine oil in the sauce instead of lemon extract!"

The variety and intensity of expressions on the faces around that table would have furnished a funny cartoonist with inspiration sufficient to last a month. Some tried to laugh and make light of the affair, but they were those who had eaten the last of the machine oil sauce; some looked sorry and sober and others looked positively ill. Then came a moan from the pantry which caused a general scramble in that direction, and poor Aunt Martha was dragged forth with her face in her hands and her whole manner denoting the deepest mental distress. She was inconsolable and declared in the most decided way that she would never be able to look any of them in the face again.

They went in the parlor and took Aunt Martha with them, and by all sorts of schemes tried to divert her mind from the sauce question, but without avail. She would break out every few moments with self-condemnatory interjections and bitter lamentations, and it was not until her company was leaving, with the most hearty and sincere assurances of their enjoyment of her hospitality, that she could summon even the faintest smile to her terribly-elongated countenance. As soon as they were all gone she lost no time in hunting up Matilda and giving her a very warm and emphatic lecture upon the reprehensible practice of leaving bottles around where they did not belong. "My stars!" she cried, "suppose that machine oil had been poison? 'Twould been used just the same, and here we'd had a lot of cold corpses on our hands! It's just a mercy of Divine Providence that it wasn't carbolic acid or some such deadly stuff. My land! but I'll never hear the last of it. It'll travel from Jerusalem to Jericho, and they'll be calling their machine oil Aunt Martha's pudding sauce, see if they don't!"

When she had finished her lecture, and Martha had a chance, the long-suffering servant said, in her most correct and vigorous English:

"Aund Marda, I didn't vas pud das boddle in der bandry, neider! Id vas your own selps. I dink you vas make a liddle on der knife sharper und you didn't vas toog id oud yet."

"ID VAS YOUR OWN SELFS."

Upon thinking the matter over carefully, Aunt Martha found Matilda was right, and she shouldered the whole blame, and was further humiliated by having to make due acknowledgment to the girl, who, in the depth of her sense of wronged innocence, was saturating her apron with tears. After fully atoning for her injustice Aunt Martha left the kitchen to Matilda, with the assurance that she would trust everything to her in the future.

The soothing hand of time gradually healed over the terrible wound to Aunt Martha's self-esteem, but she never forgot her awful mistake, and regarded the slightest allusion to it with severely silent disapproval.—Chicago Saturday Evening Herald.

AN AMATEUR VOLCANO.

Eruption of Mount Olympus (Wash.) Traced to Burning Lignite.

The Mount Olympus sensation which lately scared the good people of Washington state with the idea that a volcano was in active operation in that great mountain, has been brought to a sudden end by the return of an exploring party to find out what was the matter.

It seems that earth in that vicinity is interlaid with veins of lignite coal. Forest trees have fallen into the crevices and gorges, enormous quantities of leaves have drifted down upon these, and by some means fires have been started which have communicated with the coal veins. Great jets of steam and burst of smoke frequently come from the sides of the mountain and these confirmed the theory that there was a genuine volcano in operation. It seems that the heat has melted the snow which has formed a perpetual white cap at the summit. This, trickling down the sides of the mountain in streams, has fallen upon the fire, which accounts for the great volume of steam. The puffs of smoke and explosions are thought to be caused by the ignition of collections of natural gas.

This condition of affairs naturally leads to the inquiry whether a good many volcanic eruptions might not be traceable to burning lignite and the explosions of large quantities of confined gases. Be that as it may, Mount Olympus is a seething mass of burning coal, and the volcano scare amounts to nothing.—N. Y. Ledger.

Pure Politics.

"We have called to beseech your aid in a movement for the purification of politics," said the spokeswoman of the delegation of high browed, lean waisted ladies and gentlemen.

"Well, my friends," said the practical statesman, "I don't know but politics is in need of a good deal of purification right now."

"Ah! We thought you would see—"

"Yes. It is getting so mixed up with reform and economy and one thing and another here lately that there is hardly any of the good, old-fashioned, pure politics at all any more."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

BAD HEARTED SOLDIERS.

Free Action of the Organ Imputed to Tight Fitting Clothing.

Answers says: "Very few soldiers who have seen much service escape what is called battle heart. The ordinary state of the heart in healthy people is one of irritability, but in the soldier of five or six years' service the irritability is so great that it constantly affects his temper.

"The British soldier," we are further told, observes the Army and Navy Journal, "wears such tight clothing that his heart has not room to beat freely, and the perpetual struggle to do its work under difficulties injures it. The soldier's trousers are tight at the waist. His coat is buttoned as tightly as possible, and very often he squeezes himself with a belt. Then when on the march his chest is compressed by the weight of his knapsack, canteen, greatcoat and heavy cartridge belt.

"If you watch a company of soldiers when they are doing a long march you will observe that most of them have flushed faces, red ears, red noses, swollen necks—showing that the heart is greatly overtaxed. Some, on the other hand, are pale, which proves that their hearts are not equal to the work thrown on them. When, after a very long march, the men have to deploy into fighting order, and perhaps rush a hill, a very large number break down altogether. Their overstrained heart never becomes really strong and healthy again."

Miss Jennie Moore, who was shot and seriously wounded by Joseph Bennett, at Williamston, as told in another column of this paper, is a cousin of Mrs. R. W. Murray, of this city.

The remains of Mrs. S. H. Weill, who died at Mrs. Wilson's, on South Davie street, yesterday, were carried to New York last night, accompanied by her husband. The deceased had consumption and came here some time ago in the hope that her health would be improved.

People residing in the vicinity were disturbed last night, or rather early this morning, by a number of young men who congregated on West Market street, in front of Greensboro Female College, and made the night hideous by loud singing and other boisterous conduct.
